

Role Play – poor money management

Tin just came to Australia. He registered with Centrelink to get some income before he is able to get a job. He received $500 a fortnight from Centrelink. // He misses his family members overseas and send $100 to them at Western Union. // Then, he goes to the supermarket and buys groceries for the next 2 weeks. He spent $ 150 for the food. // At the shopping centre, he met a mobile phone sales person, who offered him a 12 months phone contract. He now pays $50 every month to pay for his phone. // Tin does not have a car or Australian driver's license yet. So he bought an metrocard and put $50 into it. // Not long after that, he receives a call from the real estate agent who tells him that his housing application is approved and he needs to pay $ 300 for the first rent payment. But Tin only has $150 left.

Student A – Centrelink officer

- Give Tin $ 500

Student B – Tin

- Receives $500 from Centrelink

Student C – Western Union teller

- Tin to give $100 to the teller, who then gives the money to student D.

Student D – mother in Burma

- Receives $ 100

Student E – supermarket cashier

- Tin to give $150 to the cashier.

Student F – mobile phone salesman

- Tin to give $50 to the salesman

Student G – Opal card seller

- Tin to give $50 to the seller

Student F – real estate agent

- Tin does not have $ 300 for rent payment