

ABORIGINAL AND TORRES STRAIT ISLANDER VOICE

An Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Voice will be an independent body to represent Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to the Federal Parliament and Government.

It will provide advice on laws and help to develop policies that affect Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

Across our services, The Salvation Army sees first-hand the social injustices experienced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in Australia. An Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Voice will provide an opportunity to correct existing structural issues and ensure that future legislation does not create or perpetuate disadvantage and injustice.

We believe the Voice is a social justice response that will lead to better laws, better policies and better outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

We encourage you to recognise and respect the diversity of opinions and perspectives around the Voice, as our views are not homogenous.

The important thing is that we – as The Salvation Army and as individuals – remain focussed on how we can fight against the hardship and injustice experienced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to transform Australia one life at a time with the love of Jesus.
